GEO. A. GOATES IS THE NEW PAROLE OFFICER OF STATE SCHOOL

George A. Goates of Lehi, recently selected as state parole officer at the school, to succeed E. M. Rowe, who resigned in June, will arrive in Ogden in the course of a few days to take up his duties.

Superintendent E. S. Hinckley says he considers the board of trustees could not have made a better selection, as Mr. Goates is among the most capable young men of the state.

What the reasons for Rowe's resignation are members of the state industrial school board have not made known.

Mr. Rowe, it is said, is now on his ranch in Idaho.
Mr. Goates has filled the office of city recorder at Lehi for two terms, and during two terms as supervisor of the waterworks department there he was mainly responsible for Lehi's present water system. He also supervised the installation of water systems in two other Utah county towns.

During the three remaining years of his residence in Lehi school district No. 12 he served as school trustee, and in that position won attention from educational authorities. For two years he served on the Alpine high school board and at the consolidation of the school with the Lehi high school he became vice president of the board, which position he still holds.

He is a law graduate and he has managed all social affairs at the Smuin Dancing academy of Lehi, opened by the citizens of the town as a place of amusement for young people.

While on a mission for the Mormon church in the Samoan islands he organized the first church school plantation that was ever operated in any of the United States' foreign possessions.

Mr. Goates' appointment as state parole agent came to him unsolicited.

COWARDLY ATTACK IS MADE ON AN OLD MAN BY STRANGER

For a cowardly attack upon an old man, J. J. Rummel, a transient, is to serve thirty days in the city jail, sentence having been passed upon him this morning by the municipal court judge. Rummel's victim was Charles Donelson, 65 years of age. The assault took place in Commercial alley, near Wall avenue, Saturday night. The old man was knocked down and rendered unconscious, but before Rummel could escape, he was caught by Patrolman Wooten and placed under arrest.

The case of L. J. Garman, charged with disturbing the peace, was set for Thursday morning.

Joe Manchero, an old offender, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was given a ten-day jail sentence.

Ed Weard, Ed Mack, Lloyd Roberts and Ben Harrison, plain drunks arrested Saturday night, were liberated on suspended sentences.

Sunday drunks numbered nine. John Doe, John Doe Stephenson, Joseph Coniskey, Walter Henry, Jim Murphy, Charles Madison, George Hall, Frank Hall and W. A. Pickett, having fallen off the "wagon" yesterday. With the exception of Pickett, a transient, each received the usual three-day jail sentence with the $3 fine alternative. Pickett, who refused to go to jail peacefully, was given a $5 or five-day sentence.

John Doe of Preston, Ida., had an experience which he said would keep him on the straight and narrow path for some time to come. He arrived in Ogden, Saturday morning, and being unduly thirsty, proceeded to get several drinks. He lost his sense of bearing. He awakened in the police station, whither he had been taken by Patrolman Brown, minus his coat. When he was found, according to the officer, his hat, coat and vest were missing and his hat band was wrapped around his head. The vest and the remainder of the hat were found by the officer after a search, but the prospects were that John would have to purchase a coat or go home in his shirt sleeves. The loss of the coat and the experience of passing a day and two nights in jail was deemed sufficient punishment and the judge gave him a suspended sentence.

GOVERNMENT MEN TO STUDY FARMS OF WEBER COUNTY

Professor H. M. Dixon, surveyor for the United States farm management, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., came to Ogden yesterday for the purpose of making investigations regarding farm conditions in Weber county. He is visiting the counties of Utah at this time, with a view to determining the business end of the industry, as it has been deemed necessary by the government to learn as nearly as possible whether the farms in general are paying dividends on the investments. Where it is found they are not, remedial suggestions are made.

Accompanied by T. H. Summers, R. S. Washburn, E. O. Wooten, S. O. Jayne and L. A. Morehouse of the Utah farm management bureau, and R. V. Huffaker of the State Agricultural college, he will make a complete survey of a number of Weber county farms during the week. The investigations will cover the various branches of farming with a view to checking up the returns from each department, compared with the cost. The dairying side of the farm, for illustration, will be taken up and the cost of breeding, feeding, general care, milking, marketing the dairy product, losses, efficiency and many other things of importance to that branch of the farm will be figured out and then the returns by way of the sale of milk, butter-fat, beef and other returns for the credit side of the ledger will be taken into consideration. A balance will be struck and if the account does not show in the red it will be considered a success. If the figures are on the wrong side, suggestions will be offered by the scientific investigators as a remedy.

WONDERFUL OPERATIONS ON THE BATTLEFIELDS.

Some extraordinary operations to repair faces shattered by shells are being performed by the French surgeons. Dr. J. Dundas Grant described in the Lancet a few of those that he witnessed at Val de Grace and Bordeaux. In one case the bridge of a man's nose had been driven in, completely closing the rear nasal passages. M. Morestin detached what was left of the nose, leaving it as a flap attached below. He cleared out the nasal passages, and stuffed the cavity with gauze, which he replaced with rubber tubes after a few days. He planted part of the cartilage of a rib in the man's forehead, and when this has taken root he cut it away, turned it down, attached it to the remains of the nose and remodeled this.

In many cases in which a large part of the lower jaw had been shot away, casts were taken of both jaws and on these the surgeons and the dentists studied the best methods of repair. They were often able to restore to the least ability to chew food and to talk.

"E" is used more frequently than any other letter in the English alphabet.
